Securing the engraving material onto the engraving table

There are different ways to secure the material to the engraving table. Below, you will find a list of the different possibilities. It is up to you to choose which option is more appropriate for your application.

Using the standard included flat engraving table

Every Cyborg X-300 is shipped standard with this table. To secure the engraving material to this table you first have to put the sticky “Multimat” (standard included) on the engraving table. You then put the engraving material on the Multimat. The Multimat has 2 sticky sides. It will firmly hold the engraving material to the engraving table.
